

The Power of One

By Gale Faltin

If the sun that shines from 93 million miles away
Can brighten and warm you
This beautiful day,

Never doubt – though you may feel quite small
That there's a brilliant light
Meant to shine on us all.

If a smile that you share with a person today
Can brighten and warm them
Through your own special way,

Never doubt – though you may feel quite small
That you're the brilliant light
Meant to shine on us all.
